The paper next Monday will be read by the paper next Monday will be read by the Reverend Doctor E. D. Walker, pastor of the Curby Memorial Church.

The Southern Methodist ministers met as usual, and fifteen additions were reported. The Reverend L. H. Eakes announced that on Sunday his congregation took action changing the name of his church from Beckville to Oak Hill. The Reverend Frank J. Mapie of the Misouri Conference, who is on his way to Nashville, Tenn., to be married, was a visitor at the meeting. Mr. Maple preached Sunday at Marvin Church, where he was converted and where he entered the ministry. The Committee of Conference Arrangements reported progress and announced a special meeting at No. 1414 Locust street to-morrow at 10 a. m. for perfecting all arrangements for entertainment.

The Methodist Episcopal ministers held their first fall meeting yesterday. The Reverend Doctor S. B. Warner. Presiding Elder, presided, and the devotional exercises were conducted by the Reverend Doctor J. F. Corrington. Next Monday the Reverend David M. Crow of the Farmington district will read a paper on "Material and Spiritual Resources" of that district.

There will be a State Sunday-school convention echo meeting at the Pligrim Congregational Church to-morrow evening. It will be opened by a fitteen minutes' praise service under the direction of R. O. Belt, which will be followed by five ten-minute speeches.

Work on the Lafavette Park M. E. Church, South, is progressing rapidly. The corner-stone ceremonies will take place September 19 and will be participated in by members of the St. Louis Conference and the Masonic order of the city and State. It is intended to make it the notable event of the conference week.

The Reverend M. L. Sornborger, pastor of the Carondelet Christian Church, is booked to deliver an illustrated lecture on "Mak-ing Faces," drawing as he lectures, at the Tuxedo Christian Church to-night. The lec-ture is given under the auspices of the "Tuxedo Sheep."

The Reverend Doctor William J. Russell of Rushville, Ind., preached two strong sermons at the Mount Cabanne Christian Church on Sunday, and the impression made was exceedingly favorable. Doctor Russell is paster of a church of 965 members, which has been largely built up through his efforts. The official board of the Mount Cabanne Church will meet on Wednesday evening, when a call may be extended to Doctor Russell to become the successor of the Reverend Doctor D. R. Dungan.

CONVENTION AT CHICAGO.

National Manufacturers' and Deal ers' Protective Association.

Chicago, Sept. 3.-The fourteenth annual onvention of the National Manufacturers and Dealers' Protective Association began here to-day with seventy-five delegates present.

Before adjournment, three days hence, the convention expects to take action of great importance to the harness trade. Of the wholesalers and jobbers in the harness business, it is said, 80 per cant are retailing, as well as seiling to the trade. To prevent this it is the pian of the convention to provide for a strong association of retailers, which will do all the buying through one office on a co-operative plan.

The jobbers, according to present plans, will be given the alternative of losing the trade of the 300 members of the association or giving up this retail business.

COST OF INDIAN SCHOOLS.

Estimates Made by the Board of Education.

Vinita, I. T., Sept. 2.-The cost of running the schools in the Indian Territory has been estimated by the Board of Education. The cost of Cherokee schools is $100,000 annually, and the Cherokee Nation has a larger number of schools and more school children than any other tribe. The Choctaw schools cost about $55,000 yearly and have facilities equal to the other nations. The revenue for school purposes in the Choctaw Nation is ample for school purposes, and even sufficient to furnish one-fourth to the Chickasaws under treaty stipulations between the two nations. The Chickasaw Nation runs its own schools from revenue collected by that nation for the purpose, and no estimate can be made of the expense. The Creek Nation has fewer schools and it costs more proportionately to run them. The expense for school purposes reaches $5,000. The Cherokee schools are supported by the interest on invested funds for that purpose. and the Cherokee Nation has a larger num-

The site of the new building occupies eight acres, and lies high. The ground was donated by the Reverend Father Robert Hayes, formerly pastor of St. Patrick's Church. The building cost $100,000. The money was donated by two individuals, whose identity is not disclosed at their expressed degire. It will take about $25,000 more to complete the improvements.

The building has a frontage of 284 feet, with two wings extending 170 feet back.

Between the wings is an extension with a chapel on the second floor and an assembly

Little work remains to be done on the room on the first floor. The building was designed by Barnett, Hayes & Barnett. The house which the sisters will leave has been used as an orphan asylum for fiftyfive years. It was formerly called St. Jo-seph's Asylum, and was used for the care of boys. In 1894 St. Joseph's Asylum was removed to new quarters at Grand avenue and Delore street, and St. Mary's moved from its old quarters at Tenth and Biddle streets to the Clark avenue house. St. Mary's Asylum was established at Tenth and Biddle streets in 1843. Mrs. Biddle, a daughter of John Mulianphy, donated the property. St. Joseph's Asylum was estab-lished some years earlier in the Cathedral parish. The Clark avenue property will be parien. The Clark avenue property will be sold.

There are 240 children in St. Mary's Asylum, ranging in years from 4 to 14 years. When children arrive at the latter ago homes are provided for them. The charges are taught all kinds of housework and sewing, in addition to receiving a common school education. The community in charge of the asylum comprises fifteen sisters.

OPPOSED TO NORMAL SCHOOLS.

Baptist Ministers Resolve That They Are Not American. REPUBLIC SPECIAL

Mount Vernon, Ill., Sept. 2.—The Saturday afternoon session of the Salem Baptist Association of Jefferson County transacted much business. The most important committee report was that on higher education. The Reverend Mr. Throgmorten of Duquoin was chairman of the committee and wrote the report, which was in condemnation of normal schools. The Reverend Mr. Throgmorton declared normal schools unamerican. He said that they were organized by log rolling.

He believed, he said, that the State had no right to tax the people to educate teachers, and that normal schools meant and threatened the denominational schools with destruction. It is said that the committee unanimously acquiesced in Mr. Throgmorton's expressed views.

The Reverend Mr. Danbury, also of Duquoin, declared that it was alarming to know that only 33 per cent of Jefferson County teachers were Christians. The education of teachers by the State normal schools, he said, was against the genus of American institutions. ociation of Jefferson County transacted could get together again spectators interfered.

The trouble between the two grows out of a suit recently tried at Greenville before Judge Deering. In the course of the trial Smith accused Klotz of taking to the jury while off the witness stand. The Judge was appealed to and the trouble was smoothed over, although Smith claims Klotz threatened to "see him later" cutside the courtroom. Yesterday Judge Deering was at the Laclede talking to Smith when Klotz came along. He spied Smith for the first time since the Greenville incident. According to Judge Deering, Klotz walked up to Smith and hit him in the face, knocking him to the floor. The Judge Intervened at this point and Smith was taken away by a friend. In speaking of the matter later Klotz expressed regret that he had been so beligerent. Smith was not injured except that he was considerably jarred from his sudden contact with the marble tiling of the floor.
